At the time of our review, TRANSCOM had identified 300 Tier 1 and Tier 2 TRANSCOMs Asset critical transportation assets linked to its global mobility mission. Identification Efforts Are TRANSCOM officials told us that they identified larger systems of assets - Inconsistent with Intent of categorized as air bases, seaports, and commercial airports - based on DCIP Guidance and their interpretation of the definition of an asset as outlined in DOD 18 Practice Directive 3020. 40. TRANSCOM officials explained that these types of installations are part of its worldwide Defense Transportation System that is necessary to carry out TRANSCOMs missions. This broad list of assets has been submitted to the Joint Staff for inclusion in DODs overall draft critical asset list. Because of TRANSCOMs interpretation of the guidance, its critical asset list lacks the specificity of the critical asset lists prepared by some of the other combatant commands and military services. Moreover, according to ASD (HD and ASA) officials, TRANSCOMs decision to identify entire installations was inconsistent with the intent...
