THE GERANIUM. )NDER this head, we propose to treat of the plants usually known, in common parlance, as Geraniums, including both those horticulturally and botanically known as such, and Pelargoniums. Between these there are many minute and fanciful distinctions; the principal seems to be, the geranium has no nectary; the pelargonium has a nectary adhering to the peduncle. For window gardening, their treatment must be the same. For the pelargoniums, we are chiefly indebted to the Cape of Good Hope; the geranium is found, in some of its varieties, in Asia, Europe, and America; two of the family, our wild geraniums, being familiar to...
